A roadmap for enhanced performance, responsible leadership and peace of mind in an age of disruption.

Sustainability and Mindful Business Practices

Workshop | Friday, November 17, 2017 | 9:00AM–12:00NOON

Sustainable business practices are topics of urgent conversation. Companies are discovering that without sustainable innovation, they stagnate and fall out of market relevance.

This workshop brings together sustainability and mindfulness. It offers ways to live and work more sustainably by incorporating the basics of managing the triple bottom line – economic, social and environmental – as it explores options such as socially responsible investing, B Corporations, and social entrepreneurship. It presents practical mindfulness skills that can lead to innovative thinking, improve communication skills, increase productivity, and reduce stress.

Participants will find ways to make their business more environmentally sustainable and socially just while reducing operating costs and increasing a sense of personal wellbeing.

- Instructor: Tim Darst, CPA
- Cost: $75, Some scholarships are available. No one is refused for lack of funds. Reduced fee made possible by a generous grant from the Kalliopeia Foundation.
